

April 1976

Usually most months contain really easy to copy documents. This month had material from many different months and a plethora of original newspaper articles instead of copies that makes converting them into electronic copies a challenge. Also some batches of articles had 8 staples to them and taking staples out probably did damage the edges of articles slightly.

I had to also add some clear plastic folders to the month to help organize the loose articles better.